MISCELLANEOUS.

MRS. L. S. ADAMS,
Of Galveston, Texas.

"Wine of Cardui is indeed a blessing to tired women. Having suffered for seven years with weakness and bearing-down pains, and having tried several doctors and different remedies with no success, your Wine of Cardui was the only thing which helped me, and eventually cured me It seemed to build up the weak parts, strengthen the system and correct irregularities."

By "tired women" Mrs. Adams means nervous women who have disordered menses, falling of the womb, ovarian troubles or any of these ailments that women have. You can cure yourself at home with this great women's remedy, Wine of Cardui. Wine of Cardui has cured thousands of cases which doctors have failed to benefit. Why not begin to get well today? All druggists have $1.00 bottles. For any stomach, liver or bowel disorder Thedford's Black-Draught should be used.

HOW IT CAME BY ITS DATE.

That Was Counterfeit as Well as the Quarter.

The gaunt, sad looking man ate two bountiful portions of "beef and" in the Park row beanery and with a check calling for 20 cents ventured toward the cashier's desk and banged down a battered silver quarter.

The proprietor picked up the suspicious looking quarter and examined it critically. There was a deep dent near a place in the rim and another near the circumference directly opposite, and this looked as if it might have been plugged.

"It grieves me to part with that quarter," said the aged, gaunt man. "It saved my life once. At the siege of Vicksburg I carried it in my vest pocket. The dent you see there was made by a bullet which otherwise would have gone through me. It saved my life then as it does now, but it is hard to part with the old friend."

The proprietor was evidently interested. "In what year was the siege of Vicksburg?" he asked.

"Sixty-three," was the prompt answer.

"This quarter is dated 1877, and it is a counterfeit."

The sad looking man looked displeased. "Of course it is. How else do you suppose I'd have an 1877 quarter in sixty-three if it wasn't a counterfeit?" he explained.

And the proprietor was so surprised that he handed out 5 cents in change, while the sad man made his escape.—New York Tribune.

A Tart Retort.

During the presidential campaign of William Henry Harrison Alexander H. Stephens and Julius Alford met in a political debate in the south. Mr. Alford was a lawyer of a small city in middle Georgia and an aspirant for congress. He was a man of fine physique and good oratorical powers, but haughty and self conceited. Mr. Stephens, his political opponent, was an intellectual giant, but exceedingly frail physically.

After Mr. Alford had "spread himself" on behalf of his chosen candidate, thinking to belittle Mr. Stephens, who was to follow with a speech, he concluded by saying: "And here's little Alec Stephens, wearing a coat that's big enough for old General Jackson, with the collar six inches above his head and the tails dragging on the ground. If you 'tallow' him and lay back his ears, I'll swallow him."

To which Mr. Stephens piped out in quick retort, "If you did, you would have more brains in your stomach than you've got in your head."

Booth's Carefulness.

A Boston jeweler who had occasion from time to time to manufacture jewels for Edwin Booth, the tragedian, to be worn in different characters, said he was extremely conscientious in having them made not only of the best material, but as near as possible historically correct. In having a costly crown of gold and precious stones made for the character of Richard III. he sent to London to get the correct design. So in the jewels for the character of Richelieu he took great pains to consult the best authorities. It did not satisfy him to be told that the real could not be distinguished from the imitation on the stage; hence he bought the costliest laces and materials for his costumes.

Luminous Paper.

Luminous paper is very useful, and it can be easily rendered waterproof. It could be used for the numbers of houses, for covering matchboxes, for surrounding keyholes and in many other ways to guide people in the dark. You can make it for yourself.

Merely take three parts of gelatin, three parts of potassium bichromate and thirty-seven parts of calcium sulphide. Mix these thoroughly and add one part with one and a half parts of water. Apply with a brush to the paper.

What a Bad Digestion Does.

All life looks black to a miserable man with a stomach in which his food lies like lead. Woe to his companions if they expect good fellowship from him! Woe to his wife unless she has the womanly intuition that will make her humor him as though he were a cross baby! Man delights him not, nor woman either, nor is he best pleased with himself, though he jealously demands homage from others.

Good Bet.

"Hello, Sam! What's de trouble 'tween yo' an' yo' mule?"

"I jes' won a quarter f'um him on a bet."

"Yoah jes' a natchel fool coon. How yo' cbber gwine ter git yo' quarter f'um a mule?"

"Mars' Brown gibs me 50 cents er month fer to buy dis mule's feed, an' I's gwine ter take it out ob his feed, dat's how."—Judge.

THE STRICT GRAMMARIAN.

He's All Right on Paper, but Not In Conversation, Says This Writer.

Mercutio wreaked all his dislike upon a man that fought "by the book." I have a mortal grudge against one that talks by the book. Let a man write himself into syntactical tangles that would befuddle a German philosopher; let him be pompous as Sir William Temple; let him be purposely archaic as Spenser or as full of coinages as Shakespeare, as parenthetical as Browning or as antithetical as Swinburne; let him follow any whim or scholasticism to the death, so long as he commits bookishness only on paper. But heaven preserve me from frequent encounter with the fatal bore that talks bookishly. I am not patient with the unco' learned who interlard their speech with those crackling "by which's" and "to whom's" rather than seek the direct colloquial forthright that gives them an honest, stout preposition to end a sentence with. Now, the torment of bookishness in actual talk is bad enough, but you can always escape by running, or at least call the police. What refuge is there, though, from the bookish talk of the characters in fiction? When an author is before the curtain in propria persona, one is not offended necessarily by magniloquence or overnicety of construction, but when he steps back and pulls the strings that work his puppets' jaws then surely, surely, he must talk like talk and not like composition.—Scribner's.

The Banana.

The banana was named musa after Antoninus Musa, the freedman and physician of the great Augustus of the Romans, says Linnæus. The sapientum—the wiseness—in its name is a graceful tribute to it as the "wise man's food," for, incredible as it may seem, it is perhaps the best food product of the earth, being far more productive than either wheat or potatoes, the staple food of other nations. Long ago it was calculated that it is 133 times as productive as wheat and forty-four times as productive as the potato—in other words, that the ground that would give thirty-three pounds of wheat or ninety-nine pounds of potatoes would, as far as mere space is concerned, give 4,000 pounds of bananas and with a fractional amount of the same trouble. It has been called the "prince of the tropics" because it takes the same place, only to an even greater degree, in those hot countries that wheat, rye and barley take in west Asia and Europe and that rice takes in India and China.—Longman's Magazine.

Bats and Vampires.

At sunset in the forest of Guiana the bats flit from their hiding places, some taking the place of the parrots and flocking around the fruit trees, while the horrid vampires wander far and near in search of some sleeping animal or even man in order to obtain a meal. Cows, goats, hogs, fowls, as well as game birds and quadrupeds, all suffer from their attacks if not secured in well latticed pens, while the traveler must not be surprised when awaking to find blood oozing from a wound in his foot or temple. In some places domestic animals cannot be kept at all, as they are so weakened by repeated attacks as to ultimately die of exhaustion. Fortunately, however, the vampires are not very common and with proper care may be excluded from dwelling houses and stock pens.

Enlarged Vocabulary.

To have helped a great man on his way is something to remember. A Chicago paper says of one western senator that he takes pride in never saying more than "yes" or "no" to newspaper men.

One day a correspondent interviewed him with the usual result and ended by asking:

"What is the largest city in South Dakota?"

The senator looked his surprise, but replied courteously:

"Sioux Falls."

The reporter bowed and took his leave. A few moments later he met a friend and said to him:

"I've beaten all you fellows. I've just added the words 'Sioux Falls' to Senator ——'s vocabulary."

Merits of Honey.

If people would use more honey and less butter on their bread, we think it would be better for their health, especially for children and invalids, at least such as suffer from defective or weak digestive power. Honey is a partly digested form of sugar and thus relieves the stomach from the task of changing cane sugar to grape sugar, which must be done with other forms of sugar before they can be absorbed into the system. Many resort to honey when they want a remedy for coughs and sore throat, but why not use it as a preventive?

MEXICAN BANDITS.

"Boss" Shepherd's Experiences With the Lawless Highwaymen.

When Alexander R. Shepherd, known in Washington circles as "Boss" Shepherd, first purchased his plantation at Batopilas, Mexico, it was 225 miles from the nearest railroad, at Chihuahua. Lawless bands wandered throughout the surrounding country. Accordingly the plantation was fortified, and a small army was carefully trained as an escort for the mail stage between Batopilas and Chihuahua and to guard the silver trains. Sometimes more than $300,000 worth of the metal was carried at one time by mule back to Chihuahua to be minted there into Mexican dollars or deposited as bullion for an equivalent in banknotes. Naturally the presence of so much treasure in their midst invited attack from the lawless bands which prowl through these mountains.

At last one of the mule trains was attacked, the guard overpowered and the silver stolen. Shepherd in a rage spent money like water in apprehending the criminals. His offers of extravagant rewards at last brought about the capture of the bandits, and they were escorted by some Mexican soldiery to the governor of the province for trial. A few days later word came to the Shepherd hacienda that the robbers had attempted to escape on the way and had all been shot dead. At one time it was said that the Bonanza King had been responsible for this summary revenge; but, at any rate, his silver trains were afterward unmolested.

The high esteem with which he was held even by the robbers, who had thus been signally punished, was shown the time he was captured by one of their bands. He was going to Chihuahua from Batopilas when he was surprised by five highwaymen. They had pounced down on him when he had happened to fall behind his guard. He threw up his hands, kept them up and went with the brigands to a cave. There they took all the money he had on his person, feasted him with a "touching" hospitality, called him the "White Faced Silver King" and then bade him a merry goodby.

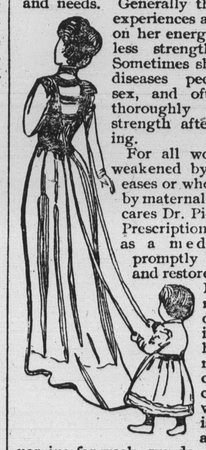
Learning English In Japan.

A Tokyo publisher has issued a book for the benefit of Japanese desirous of learning English. It is entitled "The Young Scholar" and gives examples of English composition. Here is one, entitled "The Education of the Cat:"

"I heard that beasts and birds have the education. Indeed, I saw the fact. Several days ago my cat brought forth three kittens. When the kittens became able to eat rat, the cat brought rat without head, because she had eat the head already, and she gave her children, and they eat the rat in quarrel. After three days she brought a dead rat with head and gave them, and they eat it as before. After three days she brought the rat half dead and half alive and gave them it; but they could not eat it, and the rat contrived to escape."

HARD DRIVEN.

The mother slowly times her footsteps to those of her baby driver. Yet she is hard driven because not alone in the brief moments of play, but all day long must she keep pace with baby's wants and needs. Generally the mother who experiences a larger demand on her energies has less and less strength to respond. Sometimes she suffers from diseases peculiar to her sex, and often has never thoroughly recovered her strength after baby's coming.



For all women who are weakened by womanly diseases or who are run-down by maternal and household cares Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is commended as a medicine which promptly cures disease and restores the strength. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It is unexcelled as a tonic and nervine for weak, run-down women.

"If mothers who dread the baby's coming would take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they would find it a great help and benefit," writes Mrs. L. E. Henderson (President Milwaukee Woman's Literary Club), of 623 Grand Ave., Milwaukee, Wis. "After the birth of my first child I did not seem to regain my health, so began to take your medicine, and in two weeks I felt stronger and able to be about, so kept taking it for two months and found at the end of that time I had completely regained my usual health. I also found that it was of benefit to take a few months prior to baby's advent; in fact it is of great benefit in all forms of female weakness."

Glen Ellen

From Chappie

Mrs. I. M. Merlin-jones visited Sonoma Monday.

Leo Justi made a flying trip to Santa Rosa Wednesday.

P. Gouailhardou visited Glen Ellen one day this week.

Mr. A. C. Woods transacted business in Santa Rosa Wednesday.

J. C. McCartney was up from San Francisco this week visiting his ranch.

Miss Hulda Justi has fully recovered from her late illness. She will soon be around as usual.

Miss Lottie Howard and her sister Miss Emily Kurtz left last Monday for a long visit with Oakland friends.

Mr. Monahan is improving the Hotel Mervyn grounds by cutting the hedges down and letting in the air and sunlight.

The real estate man McFee and Mr. Frazier of the Bulletin spent several days this week in this burg. They were registered at the Cottage Hotel.

Ed. Thierkoff and Julius Martins had a thrilling runaway one day this week. The spirited horses left them behind several miles from home and after a wild run turned into their own quarters. Nobody hurt.

The Ross ranch is a pretty place. It was formerly known as the Hamilton ranch. It is located near Warfield station, contiguous to the Ashe place and opposite to W. S. Bonbright's lovely home. It is not favored with an early history like many other places in this valley, excepting a small portion many years ago was a most prolific vineyard. Mr. Thelen started to make a home here for himself and family but failed in business and was obliged to give up the place. It has been for the past ten years and previous to the purchase by Mr. Ross, merely a shelter and stopping place of two families who made no attempt at farming, consequently it is mostly virgin soil. Mr. Ross in early life was a railroad man but for fifteen or eighteen years before coming to this burg had been engaged in running boarding houses and hotels in San Francisco and Oakland, but poor health decided him to try the country. This locality was particularly recommended for its healthfulness and it well deserves its reputation for reconstructing shattered constitutions and restoring sick and weak ones to health and strength, and the air and climate had the desired effect. About two years ago Mr. Ross felt strong and well and was again ready for work. He then went back to his old business, and secured a five years' lease of the Mervyn Hotel and the grounds of his present place with a bond for a deed on the same, so that at any time within that period he could purchase the property if he desired. He remained at the Mervyn but two seasons as his health again failed him and he was unable to attend to the business. Mr. Ross then sold out to Mr. Monahan, who is now running that hostlery. Since returning to ranch life he has been improving in health right along. Mr. Ross and wife during their five years' sojourn here have gathered together quite a number of fine Jersey cows, fine horses, calves, chickens, turkeys and geese. They have the freedom of the ranch and are the joy of Mr. and Mrs. Ross' life. This is rather a Bohemian home, as neither have any knowledge or skill of farming and Mr. Ross has not the strength requisite for such arduous labor, so but few improvements have been made excepting beautifying the grounds somewhat and building a neat fence around the same. Their attempts at ranching have been more amusing to their neighbors than profitable to their pockets. Still life is very enjoyable to them in their quiet, pleasant home.

Free Vegetable Seeds.

U. S. Senator Perkins has forwarded to this office from Washton one hundred packages of vegetable seeds for free distribution. Each package contains samples of radish, lettuce, watermelon, beet and tomato seed. Those of our readers who desire a package of these seed will be given the same on application at this office.

SUPERIOR COURT NOTES

In Judge Seawell's department of the Superior Court Monday the petition to sell real property of the estate of Mary McMenamin was granted.

A return sale of real property of the estate of Edith Church was confirmed.

John Tyler Campbell was appointed administrator of the estate of Dennis Kearney in a bond of $1,600.

The estate of F. O. Schulze was transferred to Department Two.

The probate matters continued were: Estates of Mary E. White and Catherine O'Reilly to January 19th.

The order to set aside was vacated in the action of Risk vs. Kerrison and the case continued to January 19th.

The order setting the action of Gugliemetti vs. Barry for trial was vacated and the trial was placed on the calendar to be re set.

The matter of the estate of Rebecca Lowry was transferred to Department Two.

The plaintiff's attorney was allowed three days to file an amended complaint in the action of the Duncan's Mills Company vs. L. Consoli.

These matters were continued: Lagomarsino vs. Cuneo, Cabeleira vs. Cabeleira, Gagliardo vs. Gagliardo, Belvail vs. Belvail, Garrison vs. Garrison, Yordi vs. Yordi, all to January 19th.

Five days were allowed to amend in the action of Moretti vs. Slattery.

In Judge Burnett's department the motion to strike out was denied in the action of Albertson vs. Hansen.

In the action of Jacinto vs. Jacinto the demurrer was submitted and taken under advisement and overruled.

These cases were set for trial: Bledsoe vs. King, March 3d; Lowry will contest, February 17th; Malonchi vs. Nichelini, February 24th; Price vs. Clausen, March 10th.

A petition to sell personal property of the estate of Anson Wright at private sale was granted.

These matters were continued: Risk vs. Kerrison, Samoni vs. Brown, and Thomas vs. Salmon Creek Lodge, to January 19th; Edward Pollitz vs. Mrs. M. C. Wickersham, as executrix, (demurrer to second amended complaint) continued to January 26th.

A Coming Event.

The young lady students of the High School have prefected arrangements for a dancing party to be given in Union Hall on Friday evening, February 6th. The best of music has been engaged and a splendid time is promised all who attend. Mr. Miller of the Union Hotel will serve supper and, the large hall will be made attractive with lights and pretty trimmings. Tickets are now on sale at 25c, to be had from any High School student.

Loss of Flesh

When you can't eat breakfast, take Scott's Emulsion. When you can't eat bread and butter, take Scott's Emulsion. When you have been living on a milk diet and want something a little more nourishing, take Scott's Emulsion.

To get fat you must eat fat. Scott's Emulsion is a great fattener, a great strength giver.

Those who have lost flesh want to increase all body tissues, not only fat. Scott's Emulsion increases them all, bone, flesh, blood and nerve.

For invalids, for convalescents, for consumptives, for weak children, for all who need flesh, Scott's Emulsion is a rich and comfortable food, and a natural tonic.

THE OPTIMIST.

Optimville, Jan. 16, 1903.

Contemplating through these recent weeks the conditions generally in the city of Sonoma I have this final word for the INDEX-TRIBUNE to insert:

In addition to the other reasons urged upon me my attention has been called to the facts further bearing upon the brightness of the outlook for any one coming to your city, of which I will now make final mention.

There never has been in my recollection so many residences demanded and built within so short a time as during the past year. The postoffice facilities are improving. The Sonoma Postoffice was never better managed. The Vineburg, El Verano, Schellville and Agua Caliente postoffices are doing well and the rural delivery is well equipped and likely to be made still better. The demands of trade have greatly improved Sonoma's stores, and they are better than ever and there are more of them. The Plaza, in the hands of the Woman's Club, is sure to become beautiful and inviting. The local lawyers are of merit. Your physicians are hard workers and public-spirited and with a competent pharmacist are sure to do their full part towards the sanitary prevention as well as the medical cure of disease, of which town and valley, anyway, are singularly free. The editors and local papers are progressive and public-spirited, and the three pastors, while differing in some of their opinions, are fraternally a unit in desiring only what is for the true advancement of the town.

Of course I find some traces still of the Pessimist famiiy, although Persimmons Pessimist has assured me that he can no longer remain. The family traits, like the taint of malaria or the germs of contagion, linger long in the system. Yet I believe the outlook for Sonoma is reasonably good. Her people enjoy healthy amusements, both indoors and out. Her homes are patrons of music literature and art. Her citizens always interested in affairs national as well as local. And from Sonoma shall proceed—as health and strength from her forward climate to the body physical—an influence always on the side of better citizenship, making for the health of the great body politic of the Nation.

In such an atmosphere the Optimist family always thrives and to such an atmosphere shall be added any influence belonging to me and mine.

We shall take up our residence among you. And although you may not perceive upon the Weems' lots or any other plat a new house of boards and shingles and window glass in which we shall reside, our domicile is already prepared. We shall be with you, in you, of you, henceforth.

Yours sincerely

OPTIO OPTIMIST.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Those who have not taken boarders in the past but wish to do so this present season will please advise us not later than February 9th. In sending information please state the name of the place, the proprietor, postoffice address, name of railroad station, distance therefrom, and as to whether or no guests will be met at the depot; the attractions and surroundings in detail, the number that can be accommodated, the terms for adults and for children per week, and if there be any special rates for families or parties. This information is desired for publication in our issue of "Vacation, 1903," for which no charge will be made.

Many people like to sleep in tents. If these are to be supplied, please mention it and also what difference, if any, in the price of board there will be on account of sleeping in tents.

CAMPING

Many of our people are so fixed that they cannot accommodate boarders, but have desirable locations for campers.

Camping is becoming more popular every season and amongst our very best people. Choice spots where families or parties can be by themselves will be in demand, and for which a reasonable charge can be secured.

In giving information please follow the form given above for summer boarders. Campers will want milk, cream, butter, eggs, poultry, fruit and vegetables, and if these can be furnished on the farm please mention it. Do not forget to add "running water," if there be any convenient, as half a day's work with a few sacks of dirt will make a pool for the daily bath.

Must have the information not later than February 9th, 1903, in order to advertise it in our "Vacation, 1903," and for which no charge will be made.

VANDALISM RAMPANT.

Young Barbarians Take the Town Tuesday Night

The peace and quiet of the people of this town was rudely disturbed last Tuesday night by a a number of young men from Napa, some of whom were arrested and punished and others are yet to be apprehended and made to suffer for the most wanton vandalism ever committed in Sonoma.

These young men, who are respectably connected in Napa, became beastly intoxicated early in the evening and amused themselves in tearing up young shade trees by the roots, pulling down the boxes that protected them and making night hideous in general.

At a later hour several shots were fired by parties who are at this time unknown, as other young men may have been abroad that night. However this may be, the next morning it was discovered that a pistol ball had been sent crashing into the fine plate glass show window of Hotz's dry goods store. The glass, which is valued at $50, is ruined and will have to be replaced by a new one.

Another pistol ball was fired into Jas. Ruffner's store. The bullet was aimed low and after passing through the window embedded itself in the floor. Had the gun been aimed higher a different tale might have been told, as Mr. and Mrs. Ruffner were sleeping in a rear room back of the store and one or both might have been struck by the bullet, as the thin partition between the room and the store would have offered little or no protection to them from the leaden pellet.

The people of Sonoma feel justly outraged over this last mentioned act of vandalism and every effort will be made by officers and citizens to bring the culprits to justice.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Scrofula—as ugly as ever since time immemorial.

It causes bunches in the neck, disfigures the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscles, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops into consumption.

"A bunch appeared on the left side of my neck. It caused great pain, was lanced, and became a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since." MRS. K. T. SNYDER, Troy, Ohio.

HE WAS LIVING HIGH

Henry Keller alias Smith, a hobo well-known to several of our farmers, was rousted out of the old Winkle wine cellar last Sunday morning by F. J. Kerridge, foreman of the Dresel place, and delivered over to Constable Ryan, who placed the offender in the lock-up. The Winkle wine cellar has been unoccupied for several years and is located near the Gundlach-Bundschu and Dresel wineries. The upper part of the cellar contains two sleeping apartments partly furnished.

When Mr. Kerridge, with a hired man, raided the old unoccupied cellar he discovered that Keller had been living off the fat of the land. Empty cases of wine and beer, and bottles of all kinds were discovered scattered around the cellar. The drinkables had been used to wash down many a palatable meal that had been stolen from the larders of near-by farm houses, into which he had forced an entrance.

Monday the offender was taken before Judge Small who found him guilty of misdemeanor and sentenced him to the County Jail for sixty days.

When his sentence is served out Keller alias Smith will be brought back here and arraigned before Judge Small on a charge of burglary.

AN EXPENSIVE TOOT

Three Young Men From Napa Fined $60

Antone Rossi, Carlo Diletti and G. Balleo, three young men from Napa, were arrested by Constable Joe Ryan, Wednesday afternoon, charged with malicious mischief.

The accused were subsequently taken before Judge Small and pleading guilty to the charge were fined $20 each. The fines were paid and the young men were released from custody.

Their offense was getting on "a little toot" with two other young chaps, also hailing from Napa, and painting the town a gorgeous red on the night previous to the day of their arrest. Other arrests will follow.

In making a midnight round of the town the five young men uprooted a number of young shade trees, kicked over the boxes which had been erected by the Woman's Club to protect them and forced open the door of a Chinese house. The young fellows are also suspected of firing the pistol shots into Hotz's plate glass show window and Ruffner's store. But as there was no evidence at hand to connect them with that offense it was not incorporated into the charge entered against them.

IN OUR NEW POSSESSIONS

A Sonoma Boy's Experience in the Philippines.

[Deme Gordenker, a graduate of our High School and State University, who joined the small army of school teachers sent to the Philippine Islands some months ago by the Government to take charge of the public schools in that far-off land, has written a series of letters to his mother, Mrs. Gordenker of Glen Ellen, from which we are permitted to take the following extracts which we are quite sure will be read with interest. These extracts from Mr. Gordenker's letters will be followed by others.—Ed.]

Manila, May 1, 1902.

When the mumps attacked me I thought it best not to take any chances and went to the Civil Hospital. The care is good and charge nominal—$1 per day. The hospital is supported by the Government for the benefit of the employees.

I have been assigned to the Island of Negros, though I do not know yet what town I will be stationed in.

So far I have only one cause of dissatisfaction. It is this: My contract says that my salary is to be paid in gold, but instead of paying us in gold the department is giving us Mexican dollars at the rate of $2.20 to $1.00 But, on the other hand, when you go to a bank to buy gold to send to the States you have to pay $2.40 to $1. Thus you see, I lose 8 or 10 per cent on that part of my salary I wish to send away.

The currency question is a very great problem in these islands. Silver coin of all nationalities, but principally Mexican, circulates here, and the natives do business on the basis of the peso, which is the size of our American dollar. However, as the peso is not redeemable in gold it goes for its bullion value—about 40 cents gold. With fluctuation in the value of silver the value of the peso fluctuates. A month ago it took $2.30 pesos to buy a gold dollar. Now it takes $2.40. Of course that creates unstable business conditions. Also, I think we teachers are not treated justly in not being paid in gold or or paid in silver at the prevailing rate. But what can we do? Somebody's pocket benefits by it, though it is not mine.

It has been raining a good deal to-day and the sky is seldom clear. The temperature is very agreeable and if I were not laid up with these ridiculous mumps I would be enjoying life.

During our long voyage a few of us passengers issued a weekly paper. We used to type write one copy and post it up where the rest could read it. I was the editor-in-chief of the production, so you can see that even in this far off land I am not forgetting my trade.

DEME GORDENKER.

Maria, Siginjor Is., June 22, 1902.

Well, here I am settled at last. As you see by the head of this letter I am in the town of Maria. Now I suppose you want to know what kind of a place this same Maria is. If I were to say merely that it is a town of four or five thousand inhabitants it would give you an entirely mistaken notion. You would expect a main business street, a residence district, etc. Nothing of the sort in Maria. There is only one store in the place—a little dry goods shop—and there is nothing that looks at all like a city street.

The town lies on a little hill scattered along the sea coast for two miles or more.

There is a church, two shaky dilapidated looking structures used for school houses and another building of fair size, which used to be a convent, but which now serves as quarters for the native police, as town hall and as the residence of Demetrius Alexander Gordenker. My part of it is a big room about thirty feet square. It is plastered and whitewashed, which is a very rare thing in this country. One objection to it is that the whitewash keeps falling down, so that my floor looks as though it were snowed upon. Another objection is that there is only one window facing to the east out to the sea and since a breeze is the only way to achieve coolness it is usually pretty warm.

As for my eating arrangements, I have the use of the common kitchen used also by the police.

They have no such things as stoves here. They simply build a fire on a boxfull of sand and put their pots over it. Of course I have a servant who does my work. He is a native and understands no English and but little Spanish. I don't know very much Spanish myself. You can easily imagine what our conversations are like. He is one of the stupidiest men I ever saw. I took him because he was recommended to me as being honest and a good cook. He is married and boards with his family that he is supposed to, though I think it is his steady intention to absorb as much of my provisions as he can.

I pay him good wages, that is for this country, $7 a month—seven silver dollars—which is to say a little more than three dollars a month gold. Living is fairly cheap. There is no bakery in the town and no family aristocratic enough to bake bread; so I have to depend on rice and crackers. Chickens and eggs are cheap, but it is impossible to get meat. The only fruits so far are bananas and cocoanuts. There are no potatoes or vegetables of any sort. Later on corn will be in season. I am not much given to the pleasures of the table, but sometimes I would give a good deal for a square American meal.

And now for my life here. I am the only white man in the town and the nearest American is six miles away. My school hours are from 8 A. M. to 11 A. M. and from 2:30 P. M. to 4:30 P. M. I will leave the description of my school to another letter. As for my leisure time, well I suppose I do very much what Robinson Crusoe did.

DEME GORDENKER.

NARROW ESCAPE

John and Jack Watt In a Tip-Over

John and Jack Watt, the well-known farmers of Schellville, had a narrow escape from serious injury last Wednesday. As put by one of the brothers, "It was the closest call I ever had in my life." They were seated in a big farm wagon and while driving across a field on their ranch one of the wheels dropped into a deep chuck hole, overturning the wagon and throwing both men from the wagon seat. As they struck the ground they barely missed being crushed beneath the vehicle, which was loaded with a ton of manure. This was dumped unceremoniously on top of the prostrate men and almost covered them from sight. They soon succeeded in burrowing out, however, and went to the assistance of the horses and succeeded in quieting them and preventing a runaway.

John Watt did not receive a scratch in the mix-up while Jack Watt was only slightly bruised on one of his arms. The wagon pole was broken, the harness somewhat damaged, but the horses escaped injury.

The Sneezing Superstition.

The custom of saying "God bless you!" when a person sneezes dates from the time of the Patriarch Jacob. The rabbis say that prior to the time when Jacob lived a man never sneezed but once; the shock consequent was certain death. When Jacob came on the scene, he interceded with the Master and obtained a relaxation of this rigid law, subject to the condition that in all countries when a person sneezed he himself, if alone, or a friend if one happened to be near should make a pious exclamation. This soon crystallized into one general form, that of "God bless you!"

It is rather singular that this curious custom is now observed in one form or another in most European countries today. In Germany the sneezer is saluted with "Your good health!" in Ireland with "God bless your honor!" In Italy and Spain similar expressions are used. The Russians, in order to be odd, I suppose, exclaim, "How do you do?"

Care of the Watch.

Always wind up a watch as nearly as possible at the same time every day and do it as smoothly as possible to avoid sudden jerks. Most watches are now made keyless, but if a key has to be used it should be kept perfectly clean and free from grit or flue, says an exchange. If a watch is hung up, it must have some support at the back, and if laid horizontally it is well to place some soft substance under it for more general support; otherwise the action of the balance will cause a pendulous motion of the watch and cause much variation in time. The watch pocket must be kept as free from dust and nap as possible.

A Linguist.

"Well, he can't, dear. He has been in this country only a few weeks, and"—

"But, mamma, when the boys were snowballing and Fred Williams and Charley Johnson fell over each other he laughed right out loud in our very own language."—Chicago Record-Herald.

SONOMA, SATURDAY, JAN. 17, 1903.

A BURMESE JUGGLER.

The Simple Method by Which He Put His Victim Asleep.

A Burmese juggler recently gave an exhibition of his powers on board a steamer proceeding from Moulmein to Rangun. The subject was a native servant of an officer, and the experiment took place on the deck of the ship. There was no collusion between the experimenter and the subject, for they were strangers to each other and were surrounded by the passengers and the crew. Indeed, so impressed with the juggler's powers were some of the lascars that in alarm they took to the rigging by way of securing their safety.

The subject was a native of Madras, and the illustration given was presumed to be one of the manner in which the dacoits of Burma render their victims insensible. Whether this be the case or not, the practice of the juggler was eminently successful. He seized the neck of the patient with his thumbs, one on each side. Then he compressed the soft parts of the neck below the jaw. In a few moments his subject became insensible and fell like a log on the deck of the ship. There was much alarm naturally created, but the juggler was equal to the occasion. A handkerchief was flapped across the face of the insensible man, and he quickly recovered, although for a time he was in a dazed condition.

What the juggler did was to compress the big carotid arteries which pass up one on each side of the neck and by thus limiting the supply of blood to the brain induce unconsciousness. This is an experiment which was certainly known to the ancient Greeks, and it bears a relationship to a theory of sleep which for long found favor in the eyes of physiologists, who believed that sleep was due to the withdrawal of blood from the brain.

Why Leaves Change Color.

A leaf is composed of a great number of cells, the walls of which are brown. In the spring and summer these cells are all filled with fluid, colored with minute grains of red, yellow and other pigments, which, mixed together, appear green. In the autumn, through the cold, oxidation and other changes take place in the leaf cells, destroying more or less rapidly certain of the color elements. As soon as one of these elements is gone the leaf no longer appears a normal green, but assumes the shade of the remainder of the color elements mixed together. When only the red element is left, the leaf is red; when the yellow alone remains the leaf is yellow, and when all the coloring matter has gone the leaf is brown.

Frost is not the sole cause of the changes of color, but it is an important cause. The more gradual the changes of temperature from summer heat to winter cold the greater will be the variety and brilliancy in the coloring of the autumn leaves. —Woman's Home Companion.

Musical Insects.

More than 3,000 persons in Japan make a good living by breeding, training and selling what are known as "singing insects." Like crickets these insects are and their Japanese names are kusa-hibari and suzumushi.

The music which they make resembles that of a silver bell and, though rather monotonous, is very clear and sweet. The Japanese keep the insects in tiny bamboo cages and take quite as good care of them as Americans take of canaries or other pet birds. Some of them prefer the music which is made by a certain species of frog, known as kajika, and they are always ready to pay a high price for frogs which are well bred and well trained.

These they can generally obtain, according to a foreign journal, for several persons spend their entire time breeding and training frogs and insects, which they offer for sale every year at fairs held during June in Tokyo and other large cities.

Social Etiquette In Italy.

Mr. Luigi Villari in his book, "Italian Life In Town and Country," says that social etiquette is in some respects laxer, in others more rigid, than in this country.

When a hostess invites her friends to luncheon or dinner, she is not tortured by anxiety lest the number of men should not correspond exactly to that of the ladies. The latter do not get up from the table before the gentlemen, but the whole party rises almost immediately after dinner and adjourns to the drawing room, where nearly every one of both sexes smokes. At parties the servants hand round cigarettes with refreshments to ladies and gentlemen alike. At a ball a man is not obliged to stick to his partner through a whole dance. One or two turns are enough, after which he may favor some other damsel without causing offense to the first.

Dislocated Her Shoulder.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by F. Duhring. *

RIFLE BORES.

The Small Better Than the Big For All Round Purposes.

The old dispute between big bores and small bores is meaningless now because the most killing guns are the high velocity nitro guns, which are all small bore compared with the black powder guns. The best all round rifle is now the thirty caliber nitro, not because it will do all that is claimed for it, but because it makes so much flatter a line to everything within reasonable distance than any black powder gun can do. The ball goes too much to pieces on some shots, and all that I have tried throw 10 per cent of balls wild—5 slightly wild and 5 badly so. But the swiftness of the ball overbalances the other defects. An all round rifle is almost impossible, and some sacrifice must be made. Sacrificed for flat trajectory is not always a sacrifice of accuracy, but often one in favor of it. Between 75 and 200 yards, the place where most shots on open ground fall, no black powder gun small enough to be carried with comfort can make up in accuracy what it loses in curve of trajectory as compared with the thirty caliber nitro rifle. I refer to the high velocity shell and not the smokeless cartridges of the same strength as black powder. The soft nosed bullet driven with the high power nitro is the most killing form in which a ball of equal diameter can be made for all round work. Those of copper or steel do not make a large enough hole for most shots on the softer parts of the body.—Outing.

Bill's Chance.

The daily grind of toil blunts the finer feelings, but for the sake of humanity it is to be hoped that this grimly humorous story from "Memories of Half a Century" cites an exceptional case of callousness:

A Yorkshire doctor was summoned to a man whose case he could only pronounce not hopeless. He gave instructions as to the medicines that would at least give relief and said that he would observe the result on his next visit. The wife of the sick man inquired, quite properly, about what the charge would be and if it included the medicine.

"No," replied the physician; "that you must buy at the chemist's."

"And if you come again, will you charge?"

"Yes, certainly."

The woman turned to the suffering man. "Do you hear that, Bill?" she demanded. "Dee like a mon; never wear thy brass that way."

Dew.

Dew is invisible rain. It does not come from the clouds, but from the air near the ground. When the sun ceases to warm the earth in the evening, the latter cools rapidly. This condenses the moisture that is in the air in the form of invisible vapor, when it falls because of its weight, just as rain does. When the wind blows all night, there is no dew. The air next to the earth cannot cool because it is constantly moving and other air taking its place. This is why still nights are the coldest. A very light breeze will suffice to prevent dew from forming.

During a drought there is less dew for the same reason that there is less rain—because there is less moisture in the air. Warm air usually contains more moisture than cold air, which is why there is more rain in the summer than winter. Snow is frozen vapor, and frost is frozen dew.

Asbestus.

Asbestus is a mineral fiber of the hornblende variety. It derives its name from a Greek word which signifies "indestructible by fire." The ancients were familiar with its uses and the modes of obtaining it, yet, strange to say, always alluded to it as a vegetable production. It was used in all their funeral rites, but particularly where cremation was practiced, the corpse being wrapped in an asbestus cloth so as to keep the ashes of the dead person from mingling with those of the wood or other combustibles used in incineration of the remains. The people of Egypt and many other countries of the ancients, especially the royal and wealthy classes, made towels, napkins, tablecloths, etc., of asbestus and cleaned them by throwing them into the fire. . . .

He Didn't Wait.

A Briton of the consequential species once descended on the British embassy at Washington demanding to see his country's representative.

"He's not in," replied Henry Labouchere, who was then an attache.

"Then I'll wait," said the Briton pompously, seating himself. At the end of half an hour came the query, "When—er—do you—er—expect Lord Lyons back?"

"Oh, in six months or so," said the ever obliging Labouchere. "He left for Europe this morning. But you said you'd wait, you know, and I did not like to contradict you."
